HOOVER REPORTS TO PRESIDENT WILSON

Presents Allies' Estimates of Food Requirements from America

REVIEWS SITUATION

Outlines Measures Foreign Governments Have Taken to Conserve Supplies

BEFORE COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Herbert C. Hoover reported to President Wilson today on food conditions abroad and presented the allies' estimates of their food requirements from America during the coming year. He reviewed the situation in detail, outlining measures foreign governments have taken to conserve their supplies.

On his departure from the White House, Mr. Hoover was asked if he would accept a place as food dictator if one were created.

Does Not Want To Be Dictator. "I don't want to be food dictator for the American people," he replied. "The man who accepts such a position will die on the barbed wire of the first line entrenchments."

Before the senate agriculture committee during the day Mr. Hoover urged that a central food department be established. He advocated price-fixing bills approved by the administration as a means of ending speculation and argued for prohibition as a war measure. Later he saw the six cabinet members who comprise the Council of National Defense. At this conference he cited the need for food control and outlined what the allies are doing in this direction.

The first of the administration's food bills was debated in the house today, Chairman Lever of the Agriculture committee presenting the measure with the declaration that its prompt enactment is vital to successful conduct of the war. Several members from the food producing parts of the country attacked the bill as giving too much power to the government. Representative Graham of Pennsylvania objected particularly to provisions empowering the secretary of agriculture to send agents into places of business to obtain information.

Would Prevent Speculation. "One reason for this provision," Representative Leinout of Wisconsin replied, "is to prevent speculation. This will permit the agriculture department to get information necessary for that purpose."

The bill was laid aside for consideration of the revenue bill tomorrow, but Mr. Lever announced he would ask that it be taken up as soon as the revenue measure is out of the way, probably early next week.

Despite the poor outlook for winter wheat the department of agriculture hopes the country will produce a surplus for export to the allies by growing a great spring crop. Secretary Houston said today the country would be unable to keep up its vast exports of the last few years, but that the department saw nothing alarming in the situation if spring wheat does well.

Would Use More Corn.

The agriculture department is starting a campaign for conservation of the wheat supply thru wider use of corn in bread. The south, which now uses corn, eats now less than four bushels of wheat per capita annually, while Minnesota and other northwestern states which use no corn for food eat more than seven bushels of wheat.

American milling laws prohibit the use of mixed flour. Officials of the department hope to save much wheat by changing milling regulations as soon as given power under the food bills.

Cold storage reports made public today by the department show that the holdings of cold storage eggs in 350 places of business increased from 174,000 cases April 1 to 1,845,000 May 1. Stocks were less by 25 percent however, than on May 1 last year. Butter stocks increased during the year ending May 1 about 124 percent; cheese stocks decreased 33 percent.

GOV. LOWDEN MOVES TO ABOLISH PRIVATE BANKS

SPRINGFIELD, May 9.—Governor Lowden took active steps today to bring about passing of legislation to abolish private banks in Illinois. He sent a special message to the legislature urging that it live up to campaign pledges of both parties and pass some such legislation.

Quoting from his inaugural address he declared that private bank failures had cost the people of Chicago more than $2,000,000 within a recent period, according to the figures of Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis.

There was no reason, the governor said, why any bank should be permitted to exist without regulation and it would be impossible to regulate them without incorporation.

FORMALLY PRESENT WAR TAX BILL TO HOUSE

Propose Special Taxes to Raise Total of $1,800,000,000

American People Will Be Paying Direct Taxes of $33 Per Capita When Its Terms Are Effective—British People Now Pay $60.

Washington, May 9.—The war tax bill extending its excises to the fabric of every American home was formally presented to the house today by the ways and means committee with plans for quick passage.

Will Pay $33 Per Capita.

As a forecast of what may come later, it proposes special taxes to raise $1,800,000,000 in addition to the present normal annual revenue of $1,500,000,000. When its terms are effective the American people will be paying direct taxes of $33 per capita. The people of the British Isles—half as many—now pay per capita taxes of $60.

While the principal features of the new war levy are the increases in income and profit taxes increases in internal revenue rates and increases of customs duties, many of its provisions reach the innermost structure of every home.

The household light, heat and telephone bills, admission tickets to amusements, fire and life insurance, railway tickets, automobiles, automobile tires and tubes, soft drinks, postage rates, golf clubs and baseball bats, club dues and a host of other every-day necessities or luxuries come under the taxation.

Many Protests Pouring In.

Increased postage rates on newspapers, arranged in a zone system, are such that publishers say they will force many newspapers out of business. Already protests against many features of the law are pouring in and attacks upon it will center in the senate finance committee which will conduct public hearings on it and probably make some amendments. When Democratic Leader Kitchen presented the bill to the house today he announced that general debate would begin tomorrow and that he had hoped to pass it by Saturday. There is some objection, however, to hurrying the bill and it probably will be passed the early part of next week.

The ways and means committee estimates the war expenditures for the remainder of the year and the whole of the next fiscal year at about $3,800,000,000 exclusive of the bond issue to finance the foreign loan. The bill today is calculated to raise in exact figures $1,810,420,000.

OFFERS HALF OF PUBLIC HOUSE IN IRELAND

LONDON, May 9.—The parliamentary correspondent of the Daily News says that Joseph Devlin, nationalist member of parliament from Belfast, on behalf of Irish interests has offered the government half the public houses in Ireland for 2,000,000 pounds sterling. The offer would mean the closing of between 7,000 and 8,000 establishments and is favorably considered by Chief Secretary Duke who will consult the government.

The correspondent says that the administration is ready to adopt state purchase of the liquor interests in Ireland but is undecided in regard to the rest of the kingdom.

GOVERNMENT WILL ISSUE DAILY BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Beginning tomorrow, the government will issue a daily newspaper giving news and announcements of all departments relating to war preparations. The publication, known as "The Official Bulletin" will be issued under the direction of the committee on public information and will be mailed to all newspapers, commercial organizations or others requesting it. Postmasters have been directed to post it daily in their offices.

A weekly bulletin also is planned especially for issuance to weekly newspapers which will be asked to copy as many items as possible. Edward S. Rochester, former editor of a Washington newspaper, is editor of "The Official Bulletin."

NEW YORK WELCOMES FRENCH MISSION

At Least A Million Turn Out to Pay Homage to Viviani and Joffre

FRENCH OVERWHELMED

Mission Catches First Glimpse of Statue of Liberty As They Cross the Hudson

CROWDS CHEER WILDLY

NEW YORK, May 9.—New York surprised unconditionally to Joseph Jacques Joffre, marshal of France; Rene Viviani, former premier of France and the French war commission.

At Least A Million Turn Out. Never have visitors to New York been given so tremendous a welcome. At least a million of its citizens turned out to pay homage to the great soldier and the great statesman of a sister republic.

Accustomed as they have become to demonstrations of esteem since they set foot on American soil, the Frenchmen were overwhelmed at the demonstration accorded them by New York. Their coming was an historic event and it was celebrated in an historic way.

The men whom the city honored did not try to hide emotion they felt. From the moment they alighted in Jersey City from the closely guarded special train which brought them from Philadelphia until they retired tonight they were not permitted to forget that New York was proud to have within its gates the representatives of the best loved ally of the United States.

See Statue of Liberty. The members of the mission caught their first glimpse of Bartholdi's famous Statue of Liberty as they crossed the Hudson river on a police boat on their way to Manhattan. Viviani and Joffre stood at the rail, the former in silhouette with his hat at his side, the soldier at salute.

The Frenchmen were greeted by a reception committee which included Robert Bacon, former ambassador to France; Joseph H. Choate, former ambassador to Great Britain; Jules Jusserand, the French ambassador; Frank K. Polk, counselor of the state department; George W. Wickesham, former attorney general, and Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University.

They were escorted from the Battery to the city hall by a squadron of cavalry and two troops of mounted police, thru the canyon of Broadway, which was choked with a wildly cheering multitude. At the city hall they were formally welcomed by Mayor John P. Mitchell and Mr. Choate.

Viviani Responds. M. Viviani responded with the longest speech he has made since his arrival in America.

"America," said M. Viviani, "waited a long time before deciding to enter the world war, because she wanted to be certain to enter on the right side. France fought for liberty, consenting to pour forth her blood and to make the terrible sacrifice to win liberty for the world, he explained, and that is why America finally stepped in. France was glad he said to have her moral and material support who she had never doubted that it would come.

The greatest lesson of the war M. Viviani declared was conscription because as long as there was a warlike Germany, democracies would be in danger with their duty being to remain armed. It was a liberty day in the United States for the Frenchmen. It began with a visit to Independence Hall in Philadelphia. It ended its end with a salute to the Statue of Liberty.

Receive Honorary Degrees. Received with rousing cheers in Philadelphia the mission visited the grave of Benjamin Franklin, and then went to the University of Pennsylvania where M. Viviani and Marshal Joffre were given the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws. Marshal Joffre received a marshal's baton made from the original timber of Independence hall and a gold headed cane. The French commissioners spent the evening here quietly and retired early in preparation for a busy day tomorrow.

The program includes the unveiling of a statue of LaFayette, a luncheon given in their honor by the merchants' association and a reception at Columbia University which will confer honorary degrees on M. Viviani and Marshal Joffre.

HINDENBURG AGAIN PREDICTING VICTORY

AMSTERDAM, May 9.—via London.—Field Marshal Von Hindenburg is again predicting victory, according to the Berlin Tageblatt. The paper quotes the field marshal as saying, in reply to an address from the Saxon Second Chamber:

"The soldier spirit, which is always cultivated by All Highest War Lord, has again proved its strength. If the home army also holds on then we are certain of victory."

WAR NEWS SUMMARIZED

The sanguinary battle between the British and Germans for possession of the village of Fresnoy goes on apparently without abatement. It is a battle of desperation on the part of the Germans who see in the loss of the village a double menace—the placing in jeopardy of their entire north line especially the town of Lens and its adjacent coal fields and a deeply projecting salient into their lines which would virtually put the British at the threshold of Cambrai.

The exact situation in the little village which was recaptured by the Germans Tuesday after a subterranean defense on the part of the Canadians is somewhat obscure. The British war office asserts that Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria's men met with reverses west of the village Tuesday night in a counter attack, while an official advice as to the effect that they have been expelled from a greater portion of the village but are still holding out, altho barely able to maintain themselves against the stubborn onslaughts of the Canadians.

On the other hand the German official communication asserts that the Germans have held the village against fresh British attacks and in addition have taken 100 more prisoners. In making this claim, however, the usual details of a victory and claims of sanguinary losses inflicted are lacking in the statement of the German war office.

Wednesday saw a return of unfavorable weather along the Anglo-German front and, except around Fresnoy, the fighting was mainly by means of artillery. The French, meantime, have been busy consolidating the positions captured from the Germans in Tuesday's fighting near Choeux, repulsing counter attacks and engaging in artillery duels with the Germans. Northwest of Lens the French captured German positions on a front of more than 400 yards and brought back 100 prisoners.

Altho the fighting along the Aras front has been described as the most violent during the war, announcement has been made in the house of commons that the British casualties are 50 to 75 per cent fewer than those in the battle of the Somme.

Fighting in other theaters except in France continues of a sporadic nature, altho the operations in Macedonia, where heavy artillery operations, are in progress along the entire front, and in Roumania, where the Russians have broken thru the Teutonic line at one place, indicate the coming of general engagements in a short time.

As has been forecast, the number of British vessels sunk during the week ending last Sunday was small. Last week 24 vessels of over 1500 tons and 22 of less than 1500 tons were sent to the bottom, as compared with 39 of more than 1500 tons and 13 in the other category the previous week.

Germany, however, is still optimistic that her underwater campaign will be successful in ending the war. The naval budget committee of the reichstag has been told that in April not less than 1,100,000 tons of shipping comprised the booty of the submarine, while the minister of the navy has assured the chamber that Germany has the necessary boats, men, fuel and accessories to persevere until the end.

HOUSE PASSES BILL TO LEGALIZE BOXING

Measure Proposes that Ten-Round, No Decision Bout May Be Fought When Promoted by Licensed Clubs Under State Control.

Springfield, Ill., May 9.—The bill to legalize boxing in Illinois won its first fight in the legislature today when it was passed by the lower house 85 to 51.

The bill proposes that ten round no-decision bout may be fought when promoted by licensed clubs under state control. Five percent of the gross receipts of such bouts would be turned over to the state.

The measure was drafted by Representative T. D. Murphy, Hoyer and Epstein of Chicago, after many conferences with sporting writers and others interested in boxing.

"Efforts have been made at many sessions to put thru a boxing bill on the same basis," said Representative Epstein after Representative Hoyer had explained the purport of the bill.

"It simply puts boxing on the same basis as football, baseball and all other athletic sports. It is particularly needed at this time. Uncle Sam does not want in his army molly-coddles or bon-bon boys. This sport will help avoid that condition."

"It has been my experience," said Representative Lee O'Neill Browne of Ottawa, "that the man trained to fight is more apt to be peaceful than the man who cannot defend himself."

"A well equipped and managed gymnasium in a town of 5,000 inhabitants will keep more young men from going to the devil than a church. This bill won't make pugilists, but it will make preparedness and American citizens."

Many members spoke for the bill and only one, Representative Ellis of Elgin, opposed it.

SENTENCES MAN TO HANG

Sante Fe, N. M., May 9.—Judge E. E. Abbott of the district court late today sentenced Elbert W. Blancett, of Friday Harbor, Wash., convicted of murdering Clyde D. Armour of Sioux City, Ia., to be hanged on June 18.

CONFIDENT U-BOAT MENACE WILL BE MET

Admiral de Chair Speaks at Reception Tendered Him By Navy League

REPORTS ENCOURAGING

Asserts U. S. and British Naval Men Will Not Leave Things for Building Program

CONTINUE CONFERENCES

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Confidence that the submarine menace will be met either by British and American inventive genius or by the combined navies of the two powers was expressed by Rear Admiral Sir Dudley R. S. de Chair of the British mission at a reception tendered him tonight by the navy league. British inventions, he said, "encourage me to express the confident hope that the necessary antidote to the submarine will be found."

Admiral de Chair said American and British naval officers would not be content to leave things rest with the merchant ship building program as a means to crush the submarine.

"It will be six months," he said, "before the full weight of a ship-building program can be felt. Decisive results must be, can be, and will be achieved before then by the combined efforts of our navies."

"We have all of us at this minute centered our thoughts upon the task of overcoming and crushing the German submarine campaign. In this task the United States navy is about to render most necessary assistance. You will agree with me that the necessary thing is to make our operation against the submarine immediately effective. The vast program of merchant ship building proposed by the United States government as a means to overwhelm the submarine has encouraged and thrilled the people of the allied countries and we know that it has produced consternation in Germany wherever the Kaiser's censorship has failed to suppress the fact."

Confident of Favorable Results. "Of these favorable results, which we must have, I am more than ever confident since my visit to the United States, because of the excellent spirit and the keen desire for close co-operation which I have found on the part of the American navy and the navy department. This is the encouraging news which I will take back to England and to my brother officers of the British navy."

The members of the British mission today continued their side-on-side conferences with American officials in the hope of being able to report before the mission leaves on Friday for the joint reception in New York with the French.

Mr. Balfour dined tonight with Assistant Secretary Phillips of the state department. In the afternoon he played tennis at the White House court with Secretary McAdoo. American officials with whom he conferred during the day, included several Americans prominent in relief work abroad and Oscar T. Crosby, assistant secretary of the treasury. General Bridges conferred with many war department officials and Admiral de Chair spent another busy day at the navy department.

JURY DECLARES VAWTER NOT GUILTY

CHRISTIANBURG, Va., May 9.—Charles E. Vawter, former professor of physics at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, was declared not guilty tonight of the murder of Stockton Heth, Jr., a wealthy young society man and sportsman, who he shot to death in the Vawter home March 13. The jury was out two and a half hours, but according to one jurymen, only one ballot was taken. Vawter's defense had been that of the unwritten law and self-defense. After his acquittal Vawter gave out a statement criticizing the prosecution and the press for "the injustice done Mrs. Vawter," who testified during the trial that she had been intimate with Heth, a frequent visitor at the Vawter home.

MCADOO ANNOUNCES BOND ISSUE DETAILS

Will Be in Denominations of From $50 to $100,000

Bonds Will Mature in Thirty Years and May Be Redeemed by the Government in Fifteen—To Limit the Present Offering to $2,000,000,000

Washington, May 9.—The $2,000,000,000 issue of Liberty Loan bonds Secretary McAdoo announced tonight will be in denominations of from $50 to $100,000, will mature in thirty years and may be redeemed by the government in fifteen, subject to payment in four installments and will carry the privileges of conversion into any bonds which may be issued later during the war at a higher rate of interest.

To Be Paid in Installments. Two percent of the subscription must be paid on application. The remainder will be paid as follows: June 28, 18 percent; July 30, 20 percent; Aug. 15, 30 percent; Aug. 30, 30 percent. They could be dated June 15 instead of July 1, the date previously designated and interest will be payable semi-annually on June 15 and Dec. 15.

Two classes of bonds will be issued, coupon and registered. The lowest denominations of registered bonds will be $100, other denominations being $500, $1,000, $5,000, $10,000, $50,000 and $100,000. Coupon bonds, payable to bearer will be issued in denominations of $50, $100, $500, and $1,000.

Decision to place the minimum denominations at $50 instead of $100 the amount tentatively agreed upon last night was not reached until late this afternoon. Another detail not decided until the last minute was the conversion privilege. In all other respects the tentative program reached last night was virtually undisturbed.

Limit Present Offering. The present offering, it was announced will be limited to $2,000,000,000 and "no allotments will be made in excess of that amount." This disposes finally of reports that Mr. McAdoo has under consideration the advisability of extending the date of the offering to include a percentage of the oversubscription, which apparently will result when the subscription books are closed June 15 next.

GOVERNMENT CLOSING CASE AGAINST RINTELN

NEW YORK, May 9.—The government today brought to a close its case against Captain Rinteln of the German navy and his seven alleged munition pot confederates with testimony by Andrew D. Meloy that Rinteln told him in July, 1915 that David Lamar and former Representative Frank Buchanan and H. Robert Fowler, all defendants, were engaged in a plan virtually to close up the munition business in the United States within thirty days. The men are charged with conspiring to form strikes in munition plants and on piers to prevent war supplies from going to the entente allies from this country.

REFUSES TO EXTRADITE THAW

U. S. TO FINANCE BELGIAN RELIEF

Arranges to Loan French and Belgian Governments Jointly $75,000,000

TO BE SPENT FOR FOOD

American Belgian Relief Commission To Expend Fund for Supplies To Go To Europe

HOOVER TELLS OF LOAN

WASHINGTON, May 9.—The American government today assumed the immediate financial burden of Belgian relief by arranging to lend to the French and Belgian governments jointly $75,000,000 to be expended by the American Belgian relief commission for food to go to Belgium and Northern France. The money will be advanced in monthly installments of $12,500,000 of which $7,500,000 will go to Belgium and $5,000,000 to France. The way has been left open for more money when the loan is exhausted at the end of six months.

To Relieve British and French. Under the arrangement the American commission will bear the entire cost of supplies, thus relieving the British and French governments which hitherto have borne about ninety per cent of it. Administration of the relief abroad will be left in the hands of Spanish and Dutch agents of the Belgians and French themselves.

The money loaned is a part of the $2,000,000,000 allied fund being raised here.

Herbert C. Hoover, director of the American commission announcing the loan today said: "The inability of the commission to secure ships to provide full rations to Belgium and Northern France, makes it possible for the $12,500,000 monthly to cover the present restricted operations of the commission. There will be ample need for any balance in hand and any further subscriptions for reconstruction work and the care of orphan children in Belgium after peace, even if new emergencies during the war do not require the use of all available funds."

"The commission intends to retain all funds received from public charity after the date when the new government subsidy begins in a special reserve fund to be used as outlined. An improvement in shipping conditions may change the situation entirely."

Giving Million a Month. Americans recently have been contributing about a million dollars monthly for Belgian relief. The French and British governments have spent many millions a month.

Mr. Hoover returned from Europe a week ago to become head of the food commission of the Council of National Defense, but he will continue direct operations of the relief commission and the commission's headquarters will be established in Washington. Since the Americans left the Belgians themselves have been carrying on the relief work, assisted from the outside by the Spanish and Dutch.

A WARNING TO EXECUTORS

Probably from ignorance of the law which went into effect last fall there has been a failure in a number of instances to report to the district revenue office in estates of more than $50,000 net. The executor or administrator of an estate which nets the above amount or one in which there is $50,000 gross value is required to make report of the fact to the federal authorities within thirty days after the death of the person who left the property. The law provides a penalty for failure to make such report and the resulting costs make quite a burden for the administrator or executor. There is no escape from the law for sooner or later all such estates are uncovered one way or another.

MISSOURI TO WAR ON IDLERS

(St. Louis Star)
Governor Cox and the state council for defense have declared war against corner loafers and other idlers who consume but don't produce. As soon as the proposed twenty-nine employment agencies to furnish labor for farms can be organized and opened the governor will order a strict enforcement of state and municipal vagrancy laws. Idlers will be picked up by police and other officials. Those who can be trusted sufficiently to be given civilian employment then will be released under suspended sentences. All others will be put to work by the cities as prison laborers. "The bums who eat but don't produce must go," said Governor Cox. "Some probably will attempt to run to other states, but the chances are they will be picked up there in the same way."

WHY THE DIFFERENCE

(Chicago Post)
Under the selective conscription act no man whose services are absolutely necessary to agricultural development will be allowed to shoulder a musket. Of course, many farmer boys will go to the front, but enough of them will be held back to make it sure that the crops can be planted, tended and gathered.

It may seem strange to persons who have heard all their lives about the "hardy son of the soil" that army records show that the village, town and city boys stand the vicissitudes of army field life better than the boys who come from the farm. It is probably true that the city man would break down under the work of a farm boy if he had to pitch in without notice to do all that his country cousin does, but the fact remains that experience in all the wars has shown that the city lad can stand the hardships of campaigning better than the country lad.

It is, perhaps, the very irregularity of the lives of city men that makes them better able to stand the irregularities of regular service in the field. In the preparatory campaign in the barracks the life of a soldier is as regular as clockwork, but on the fighting line and just back of it irregularity is the rule, and there it is that the city boy seems to have the better of his brother of the country. The hospital lists show this and the records of the War Department show it.

Why is it that the city dweller best can stand the physical rigors of campaigning no one seems to know definitely. The farm lad is just as brave and just as patriotic and just as willing as the city lad, but the stamina of one does not seem to be the stamina of the other under certain conditions. Perhaps some day some student will enlighten the world concerning the reason.

CONSCRIPTION LAW SOON IN EFFECT

It is to be hoped that the house and senate can speedily reach an agreement on the age limit in the new conscription bill. Valuable time is slipping by and there is now every indication that the country will need a large armed force and need it as speedily as it can be raised and trained for service. The terms of the conscription law other than the range of ages are known and it will not be many days—that is, if the discussion in congress is soon brought to a close—until the young men of this county will be called upon to register.

Those who know the temper and disposition of the young men of the nation believe that there will be no slackers in this matter of registration and that every man will present himself for listing in accordance with the provisions of the law. If there should not be this disposition to show loyalty and patriotism the law provides the remedy for men affected by the bill who fail to register will be hunted up by the authorities. So these recalcitrants to duty cannot escape and the effort will stamp them with a certain measure of disgrace.

RANKING ON EDISON AND HIS ASSOCIATES

Most private citizens are finding consolation in the belief that government experts have devised some method still unannounced of coping with Germany's submarine warfare. This hope is based on the knowledge that Thomas Edison and some others of equal ability have been for months devoting themselves to the task of perfecting appliances which will be helpful to the government in its naval warfare. From present appearances it looks as if the success or failure of Germany's submarine warfare is the crucial point of the great conflict. If Germany continues as successful as she has been in her attacks on merchant ships there is a mighty good chance of starving England, and—well, it's just unpleasant to think about what might happen to the U. S. then. Some papers have been clamoring for statements from the government about what is being accomplished to stop the ravages of the German submarine, but to most people this looks like a subject for practical demonstration rather than for newspaper discussion.

SAVE THE CANS.

An exchange gives this economy suggestion: Enough fruit and vegetables go to waste in gardens and orchards every year to supply a good part of the population with good and healthful food if the surplus was canned and saved.

This year much more than ever before, everything edible should be saved. It is obviously impossible to use all the products of even a small garden at the time these products are ripe and ready for the table. Sugar is high and going higher. Preserving is therefore not very practical to the family of small or even ordinary means. Canning the surplus products of every kind is the one logical solution of the matter.

Glass jars and tin cans may be used with equal facility. Both will be scarce and high this season. But every family gets quite a supply of both from the grocery one or two at a time, and if these containers are all saved, there will be plenty with the available supply of new containers that will be on the market, to supply everyone.

Saving glass jars and large mouthed bottles, tumblers, etc., is a simple proposition, of course. Saving tin cans is a new idea, but it is just as practical.

Just get a small soldering iron and melt the covers off of cans as the contents are used, instead of cutting the cans open with a can opener. After emptying the can, scald it out and lay can and cover aside for the day when it is to be refilled in the home kitchen. A soldering iron costs half a dollar. One does not have to save many cans to pay for it. It will be very useful when the time comes for refilling the cans, and is a splendid investment from every standpoint. Save the cans.

Rippling Rhymes By WALT MASON

THE SLACKER.

It's most unpleasant to be shot, or slashed up with a sword; when battle rages, loud and hot, the tinhorn man is bored. His neighbors gallop to enlist, all eager for the fray. "I'll stay at home," he says, "I wist; I have no wish to slay." And while the war is going on, and brave men sternly fight, he loafs at ease upon his lawn, and sleeps in bed at night. He's thankful that the stress and strife are far removed from him, that he can lead a peaceful life in times that are so grim. But when the battles all are done, and peace is here again, and from the scenes of triumphs won return the fighting men, when to their homes the heroes jog, with laurels on each brow—oh, happier a yellow dog than is the slacker now! "From danger's path I was exempt," the slacker oft hath said, "but now men view me with contempt—I would that I were dead; I would that I had sought the scrap, and sailed in, hit or miss; and if they'd shot me off the map, 'twere better far than this!" Ere you succumb to craven fears, to dread of strife and pain, think, think of all the future years, and of the world's disdain!

COLLEGES HELD IMPORTANT CONFERENCE

Dr. C. H. Rammelkamp Returns from Washington—Two Hundred Institutions Represented—Conference Called to Consider Various Problems Relating to the War.

That the universities and colleges of the United States will render invaluable aid to the government in the present crisis, is the view of Charles H. Rammelkamp, president of Illinois College, who returned from Washington Wednesday afternoon.

Washington to attend a conference of college and university presidents who were called together by the advisory committee of the Council of National Defense. Over two hundred institutions were represented from Maine to California and from the northern to the southern boundaries of the country.

The meetings were held in Continental hall, the new building of the Daughters of the American Revolution. The buildings have one of the finest auditoriums in Washington.

Seek Co-Operation Plan.

The main object of the conference was to arrive at some general plan for co-operation of the government and the higher educational institutions of the country. Addresses were made to the conference by Secretary of War Baker and Philander P. Claxton, U. S. commissioner of education. Dr. Hollis Godfrey of Drexel Institute, Brooklyn, a member of the advisory board of the National Council of Defense presided at the meeting.

Speaking of Secretary of War Baker, Dr. Rammelkamp said that he delivered a splendid address to the conference. All of the delegates were deeply impressed with his address and felt that he was fully measuring up to the heavy responsibility of the office. Secretary Baker seems to be a man who thinks deeply and goes into problems thoroughly before arriving at conclusions.

Among the more important resolutions adopted were the following:

The conference adopted a resolution recommending that the Federal Bureau of Education should be the medium of co-operation between the colleges and universities and the government on questions arising during the war. This action was taken to simplify matters as there seemed to be a number of educational movements to assist in the war that were working at cross purposes. It will result in the government if it has anything to convey to the educational institutions it will communicate with the Bureau of Education and the educational institutions will do likewise.

Urges Younger Men to Go To College.

Perhaps the most important resolution adopted was one in which the conference urged and advised all young men below the age of selective conscription who can go to college to do so.

This idea was emphasized by Secretary Baker in his address. The secretary pointed out that if the war continued any length of time that the country would need a large number of trained men, and also would need them for the world problems facing the country after the war.

"This mistake was made," the secretary said, "by England in sending all of her young men to the war at the beginning. Then later when doctors, engineers, and others skilled in the professions were needed there were none to be had."

The Federal Bureau of Education will publicly issue in the near future a bulletin to all school authorities urging that they bring this advice to both parents and pupils. The conference also urged all students at present pursuing technical courses to continue them in order to be ready for the government's call when needed.

Military Training Favored.

A resolution also was adopted urging military training in all colleges and universities. It was asked that the government place retired regular army officers and National Guard officers in charge of this training. Secretary Baker had told the conference during his address that it would be impossible at this time to furnish any active officers for this purpose.

Dr. Rammelkamp also conferred with Congressman Rainey relative to the work of the County Defense Committee. This committee is the one organized for the purpose of providing for the care of families of soldiers in active service. The committee asked Dr. Rammelkamp to confer with Congressman Rainey and ask him what the committee could do in assisting the government in the present work.

Crop Production Vastly Important.

Congressman Rainey told Dr. Rammelkamp that the committee should adopt as broad a policy as possible in its work. He suggested that the committee could make its chief work at the present time in urging the greatest possible production of the land in the county during the coming summer.

Today Dr. Rammelkamp will go to Springfield to confer with F. G. Blair, state superintendent of public instruction relative to bringing the action of the conference before the schools of Illinois.

Dr. Rammelkamp was greatly enthused by his visit to Washington. He believes that much good will result from the conference and that the work the institutions of higher education are trying to do will be carried on in the future without confusion. Before returning Dr. Rammelkamp made a visit with relatives in New York City.

FUNERALS

Pieper.

Henry A. Pieper passed away Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock at his home, 451 East College avenue after an illness of five months duration. Mr. Pieper was 22 years of age and had always made this city his home. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anton Pieper and by one brother, Louis A. Pieper. His sister, Miss Elizabeth Pieper passed away two months ago.

Funeral services will be held Saturday morning at 8:30 o'clock at the Church of Our Savior. Burial will be made in Calvary cemetery.

Mr. Pieper received his education in the parochial schools of the city and in Mount College, Ill. He was at one time employed as pharmacist by Coover & Shreve and afterwards held a similar position at Jacksonville State hospital. It was last December, as he was completing a course in the school of pharmacy at the University of Illinois, that Mr. Pieper was attacked by the illness which proved his last.

The deceased was a young man of pleasant manner and the friend he formed were many and true. His straightforward character and habits of industry seemed to mark him for a career of steady success and on this account does his death seem the more sad and untimely. Mr. Pieper was a member of the Church of Our Savior and of the Knights of Columbus. He had membership also in Kappa Psi, a fraternity of the school of pharmacy.

FROM THE EDUCATORS' NOTEBOOK

The news comes from Berlin that all the American students at the University of Berlin have been struck off its list. These students comprise sixteen men and four women. The decree of exclusion is one of particular severity, as nearly all of these students, tho of American birth and citizenship, are of German parentage and, subject as they are to strong German influence, for the most part are in sympathy with Germany.

All but 25 of the 1500 students of Dartmouth College, Hanover, N. H., are enrolled in some branch of Uncle Sam's fighting forces. There are 1097 enrolled in the military training camp at Hanover, while 200 are in the naval branch and in industrial and agricultural pursuits connected with war organization.

Many others have already left the institution for war service of some kind, among them being the two fatalities, comprising in all 48 men, which killed a few days ago for France to join the American Ambulance Service there. The lonely 25 who have not joined in the chorus, President Ernest N. Hopkins says, have been legitimately disqualified for various reasons. Splendid as is this Dartmouth record of the patriotism of America's college youth, it is not unique, but rather, typical.

"Education as usual" will be the slogan at Portland, Ore., in July, where, despite the war, the National Education Association will hold its annual convention, July 7-14. Since the declaration of war with Germany much speculation has been afloat as to its possible effect on the projected assembly of American educators in Portland in July.

D. W. Springer, secretary of the association, has settled this uncertainty in a letter recently published. He very sensibly writes: "We believe that one element in national preparedness should be an attempt to retain a normal condition in the country. We are centering our program around ideas of preparedness, nationalism, and patriotism. I feel that in going on with the plans for the convention we are contributing our bit to the general situation."

Sir George Foster, acting Premier of the Dominion of Canada during Sir Robert L. Borden's absence in England, and who is representing that nation in the great state deliberations now going on at Washington, is as interesting an instance of the "scholar in politics" as President Wilson himself. Sir George is one of the ablest thinkers and finest orators the present generation—and an old school teacher. He is a native of New Brunswick, and comes of a Loyalist family that left the revolting colonies at the time of the American Revolution. Graduated with high honors at the University of New Brunswick, where he specialized in literature, and from Edinburgh to Heidelberg. Returning to Canada, he entered the teaching profession. After several years spent in secondary schools he was called to the University of New Brunswick as professor of classics, and in this important academic post he remained for seven years, till in 1882 he entered politics and won Parliamentary seat. Since that time either as a lawmaker or as a Cabinet member, he has been shaping the course of Dominion history.

PROMISE TO SUPPORT SHIPBUILDING UROGRAM

Leaders in Congress Confer with President Wilson—Will Introduce Bills Immediately.

Washington, May 9.—Leaders of both parties in congress at a conference with President Wilson today promised to support the administration's billion dollar shipbuilding program. Bills will be introduced immediately to give the shipping board $500,000,000 for construction of a great steel and wooden cargo fleet to run the German undersea blockade and the remainder of the money will be appropriated whenever needed.

"The billion dollars asked for ship building is a mere trifle compared with what the allies are spending in conduct of the war," said Chairman Denman of the shipping board after the conference. It may be far below the amount we shall have to spend for ships before the war is over. The board aims to produce all the shipping American yards can turn out at forced speed and ask for more money when the billion is exhausted.

PLAN TO FURNISH CHICAGO WITH COAL

MURPHYSBORO, Ill., May 9.—This city, the coal center of Southern Illinois, has a plan to furnish Chicago with an unlimited supply of coal by water at a freight rate of 25 cents a ton. The plan is to make a canal of Big Muddy river. By the construction of two locks and a dam the river can be made navigable and will eliminate the possibility of Chicago ever being confronted with another coal famine according to those who regard the project as practicable.

Arthur Charles, chairman of the rivers and lakes commission, and Leo Roy E. Sherman of the commission and W. J. Bertman, a Chicago waterway and freight expert, presented the feasibility of the project at a meeting of business men here today. They urged the construction of a artificial canal from Fountain Bluff on the Mississippi river to Sand Ridge on the Big Muddy a distance of six and a half miles and the making of a canal of the Big Muddy to Plumfield a distance of fifty-five miles.

COLLEGES MAY HAVE TO ABANDON ATHLETICS

CHICAGO, May 9.—Middlewestern Universities and colleges probably will be obliged to abandon athletics in the 1917-1918 season, according to reports received by Chicago alumni of the institutions. Every higher educational institution in the section has contributed its quota of men to the national service, a large percentage enrolling for training in the officers' reserve camps. Others have joined American or French ambulance contingents, returned to the farms or have gone to industrial plants for war service.

RECRUIT GOES INSANE

Decatur, Ill., May 9.—Enroute to Jefferson Barracks at St. Louis to enter on his second enlistment in the army, Walter J. Smerlinski of Milwaukee went suddenly insane on a Wabash train entering the city this morning. He tore up his honorable discharge papers from his former enlistment and tried to jump thru the coach window but was restrained. He was removed to a local hospital.

FAIL TO AGREE ON ARMY DRAFT BILL

Senate and House Conference will Make Another Effort to Get Together, Probably the Last, Today.

Washington, May 9.—Another day of conferences on the war army bill ended with senate and house conferees still far apart on several differences in the bill as it passed the two houses. Another effort to get together, probably the last, will be made tomorrow.

There was evidence tonight that the senate conferees were about to report a deadlock and ask for further instructions. They are insisting on the senate provisions to enforce prohibition at army posts and to permit Colonel Roosevelt to raise a division. The differences in the age limits of those subject to the selective draft, 21 to 27 in the senate and 21 to 40 in the house bill also are still disputed, but they probably could be adjusted if the other two issues were out of the way.

Senators on the committee feel that unless the administration exerts strong pressure the senate will insist on retaining the Roosevelt amendment and the house members are of the decide opinion that the house will not accept it. There have been all sorts of suggestions of changes and compromises but none has been acceptable in a case where both committees feel that a question of principle is involved.

SIGHT U-BOAT FAR WEST OF WAR ZONE

NE WYORK, May 9.—An officer on a British passenger steamship arriving here today from Europe said a submarine was sighted "far west of the submarine zone."

RUSS SOCIALIST LEADER MISSING

LONDON, May 9.—It is reported in an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Copenhagen that Nikolai Lenine, the Russian radical socialist leader, has been missing for two days. The despatch, which quotes the Svenska Dagbladet of Stockholm as its authority, says nothing is known as to Lenine's fate.

Lenine, an expatriate, under the old Russian regime, was permitted by the German government to return home through Germany from Switzerland. He took a vigorous campaign at the head of a group of ultra radicals in favor of peace and was so active that he caused some anxiety. Lately Lenine's influence is said to have been waning.

FINE ENTERTAINMENT AT LIBERTY HALL

Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs Please Large Audience in Program of Exceptional Quality—"The Mock Trial" Given by Able Cast.

An entertainment of especial merit was staged last evening at Liberty hall when the Girls' and Boys' Glee clubs of Rount college made their initial appearance in a joint program and a cast of Rount college students presented "The Mock Trial," a clever comedy play.

The cast of the play consisted of J. Becker, George Hobbs, Fenton Doolin, H. Donovan, C. Ryan, L. Doolin, M. Walsh, T. M. Walsh, W. Kennedy and J. Dempsey and the jurors were John Pine, Isadore Froelich, Merced Derdeyn, Thomas J. Walsh, William Elmie, John Coyne, Frank Carson, Gerald Craugh, Leo May, William Rook, Bernard Sheehan, Charles Flynn and Harold Wolfe.

The membership of the Boys' Glee club includes William Kennedy, Isadore Froelich, George Hobbs, John Dempsey, Merced Derdeyn, Thomas J. Walsh, Joseph Becker, William Elmie, John Coyne, Frank Carson, Gerald Craugh, Fenton Doolin and Bernard Sheehan.

Members of the Girls' Glee club are Margaret Walsh, Norrine Casey, Theresa Boylan, Lucille Gruber, Loyola Dowling, Frances Dowling, Mary Cosgriff, Louise Gebert, Helen Donovan, Clara Ryan, Lucille Sheehan, Frances Leonard, Marie Monroe, Harriet Kennedy, Helen Greet, Margaret Hagen Catherine Sweeney, Mary Whalen, Mary Doolin, Agnes Bergschneider, Mary Lyons, Moll Cooney, Helen Mandeville, Genevieve Hurstler and Alma Harmon.

The first part of the program, which was under the direction of Miss Alice Brown, showed well the careful training given.

Of the songs the Boys' Glee club gave the Finkler song "Drink to Me Only with Thine Eyes," and "She was but Seven" were especially well liked. But the favorite of all was the song, written by Kipling, "Fuzzy Wuzzy." The verses were sung by Joseph Becker and the boys joined in the chorus. The numbers given by the girls were very difficult yet they were done well. "The Brahms Lullaby," "The Linden Tree," "The Angelus" and "Come Out to the Soft May Morn" were best liked perhaps.

Each of the solos were tremendously applauded and required numerous encores. Miss Mary Doolin played her violin selection in her usual brilliant manner, while Miss Gruber sang beautifully. But it was in Mr. Marcell Dudeney's Serenata from Tosti that the surprise of the evening occurred. This was his first appearance as a singer and that appearance was a real success. He has a beautiful tenor voice of exceptional purity, clearness and quality of tone. It is strong yet capable of the finest shading. Mr. Derdeyn was compelled to respond with Cadmen's "At Dawning." It was the sincere hope of all present that this is not his last appearance in concert. "The Star Spangled Banner" sung by the chorus ended the program. For the success in every way, Miss Brown deserves great credit and it is hoped that the clubs will again have a concert.

The Mock Trial.
After this the amusing comedy was staged. It was a mock trial and was under the direct direction of Mr. Craugh. It told how a maiden lady, thinking she had received a proposal and being disappointed undertook a breach of promise suit but was defeated.

ASSURES RE-OPENING OF RIVER TRAFFIC

Gen. Black Consents to Loan of Government Barges and Attend to Towboats to a Private St. Louis Enterprise

St. Louis, Mo., May 9.—The reopening of freight traffic on the Mississippi river and its tributaries was assured last night when Brigadier-General Black, speaking for Secretary of War Baker, consented to the loan of twelve government barges and attendant towboats to a private St. Louis enterprise in return for the assurance the company would form a similar barge line to take up the traffic at the end of the year.

E. F. Goltra, of St. Louis, informed the conference Secretary Baker had been asked for the loan of the barges and towboats to aid in transporting iron ore to St. Louis from northern points. The request came in answer he said, to an inquiry from the secretary of war as to the amount of a certain class of pig iron a St. Louis company could furnish this way.

Goldtra told Secretary Baker that owing to rail congestion, it has been impossible to ship iron ore owned by the company from Minneapolis to St. Louis.

DENIES NECESSITY OF INDEMNITY FOR GERMANY

COPENHAGEN, May 9, via London.—The Bavarian Staats Zeitung, the semi-official Bavarian newspaper and the personal organ of Premier Count Hertling, publishes an inspired article denying the necessity of Germany's demanding a cash indemnity as one of her peace conditions.

The article in the Staats Zeitung is regarded, in view of the circumstances, as important as reflecting the ideas of the Bavarian premier. It suggests that an agreement to supply needed raw materials at a low price or perhaps free might be a substitute for cash indemnity.

REPORT VEGETATION AT A STANDSTILL

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 9.—Vegetation was at a standstill for the week ending May 8, on account of the cold weather, according to the weekly crop bulletin issued today by the federal weather bureau here.

The bulletin reports the temperature 14 degrees below normal and frost and ice on several days. Damage, however, it is said, was slight. There were moderate rains and snow fell on May 4, the latest on record.

"No corn was planted," the bulletin says. "Oats are in good condition and wheat shows some improvement, but some fields are still being plowed up. Pastures are backward. Some potatoes are rotting. With the exception of peaches the fruit condition is good."

MAJOR VICKERY WILL RE-ENTER ARMY SERVICE

RECENTLY RECEIVED HIS COMMISSION AS MAJOR AND EXPECTS ASSIGNMENT SOON

Thirty Two Years in the National Guard is His Record—Is Thoroughly Posted on Army and Military Affairs—Enlisted Originally With Morgan Cadets in 1877

Jacksonville is to be honored by having a citizen serve as major in the national guard of the U. S. in the state of Illinois. That citizen is Major Edward C. Vickery, who has recently received his commission and is now awaiting instructions of Adjutant General Dickson. The thirty two years that Major Vickery spent in active service in the Illinois national guard and his wide knowledge of military tactics and affairs qualify him especially for the important work which faces army officers in the near future.

Enlisted in 1877
It was in February, 1877 that Edward Vickery began his military training by enlisting in the Morgan Cadets under Capt. Harrison. Subsequently he became a private in Co. I, 6th regiment national guard, and his services as a private ran three and a half years. Then he was second sergeant, afterwards first for two terms, acted as second lieutenant then as first lieutenant, and after his elevation to the captaincy held that post for eleven years. It was five years ago that he retired from the national guard and took his place on the reserve corps. When he left active service it was at the completion of a five years' term as major commanding the second battalion in the 5th Illinois.

During his connection with the national guard Major Vickery served with the company during the Debs strike and on the occasion of other industrial disturbances. He served during the Spanish-American war and, as previously indicated, is a thoroughly seasoned soldier and officer.

Quick Reply to Adjutant General

Major Vickery received a letter two weeks ago from the adjutant general asking him if he would return to the service if he could now pass the physical examination and an affirmative reply went back the same day. The fact that Major Vickery has kept himself physically fit is indicated by his work with the company of Illinois college students. He has been putting them thru a daily drill of an hour and a half or two hours every day for the past three weeks. Recently he had the men double quick around the race track two or three times and spectators discovered that after this vigorous exercise the commanding officer was in better condition than some of the troopers.

"Don't make much of a story about this," said Major Vickery last night. "I would rather nothing was said at all, for I am simply starting out to do my duty as I see it under the circumstances. While I am expecting an assignment to come at any time, as my commission was issued May 1, something might happen and then some fellow would say that I was 'blowing my own horn.' Anybody who knows the major knows that he is not given to that sort of publicity and the public generally will be interested in knowing that he is to serve with the army and will approve his patriotic course."

ICE CREAM MAKERS DISCUSS PURE FOOD

District Meeting Wednesday Evening the Placing of all Manufacturing Under State Supervision—Would Increase the Supply of Available Cream.

Problems which confront the manufacturers of ice cream were discussed at a section meeting of the Illinois association held on Wednesday at the Dunlap hotel with J. W. Merrigan, president of the state association, in the chair. There has been a tendency for many farmers to quit dairying thus reducing supply of cream for use by the manufacturers and the sense of the meeting was that the supply of milk and cream should be increased.

Pure food regulations came up for discussion and the meeting declared for state supervision of all ice cream manufacture.

A PROTEST

Is it not time to pass some law preventing dogs from running at large? There are too many bulldogs in Jacksonville permitted to run the streets and are a source of annoyance and fear to many. On portions of Barton street and Clay avenue people are afraid to pass because of vicious dogs and in all parts of the city damage is done to flower beds and to other property by these dogs. I would favor a law providing that people who own dogs must not permit them to run at large.

BIRTHDAY SOCIAL

The regular monthly birthday social of the Ladies Aid society of Northminster Presbyterian church will be held with Mrs. E. L. Mendonsa 312 North Diamond street this afternoon. The ladies whose birthdays occur in May will be the hostesses, and besides Mrs. Mendonsa include Mrs. A. F. DeFreitas, Mrs. Mary Martin, Mrs. Emma Vieira, Mrs. Jack Martin and Mrs. A. P. Vasconcellos. All ladies of the church are invited.

FASHIONS AND FRIPPERIES

The decadence of the American "smart set" is often commented on—its devotion to dogs instead of babies, its lavish expenditures on dress and knickknacks, its waste of good money on "monkey parties," drink, and high living.

Whatever justice there may be in these criticisms, America certainly has not as yet descended to the level of the fripperies and follies of the past, as represented by the fashionable sets of former times. A glance, for instance, at the article "Costume" in the Encyclopedia Britannica, with its pictures of men and women of fashion in the sixteenth and following centuries, will convince even the pessimist of the truth of this statement.

What American idler could be charged with matching in his daily routine the "eighteenth century lord who boasted to Casanova of changing a shirt several times a day, his chin being shaved on each occasion?" Or where is the lady of fashion in our time who would fairly rival the women of George III's reign? That age "saw women's head-dressings reach an extravagance of folly passing all that had come before it. Hair kneaded with pomatum and flour was drawn up over a cushion or pad of wool, and twisted into curls and knots and decorated with artificial flowers and bows of ribbon."

"As this could not be achieved without the aid of a skilled barber, the 'head' sometimes remained in this state for several weeks." Admitting the fact that our age and race exhibit their due proportion of follies, there is thus much to encourage us in a slight excursion into the history of past absurdities of this kind.

CHANGE IN BUSINESS COLLEGE OWNERSHIP

Messrs. Peck and Read Divide Properties in Dissolving Partnership—G. W. Puffer Leaves Local College Having Purchased Property in Fond-du-Lac.

The present week has been an important one in business college circles with the announcement of dissolution of the firm of Peck & Read, owners of the Brown's Business colleges, and a change in the management of the Jacksonville college. G. W. Puffer, who has been principal of the Brown's Business college here for the past year, has purchased the Fountain City Business college of Fond du Lac, Wis. He left yesterday for Fond du Lac, expecting to make the trip by automobile. Mr. Puffer will be succeeded by B. Capps, who will come here in a few days from one of the Brown's colleges in St. Louis. Mr. Capps was a recent visitor at the local school and all whom he met were impressed with his genial manner and executive qualities.

The twenty-two business colleges of the Brown's system will be continued, Mr. Peck taking over fourteen of the southernmost located and Mr. Read operating the eight schools situated in the central and northern part of the state. The Jacksonville Business college will be one of the schools taken over by Mr. Read, who will be here this week to look after matters in connection with the deal. Mr. Read is a graduate of Illinois college and well known to Jacksonville people. Students and alumni of J. B. C. will be glad to learn that their school is to be under Mr. Read's direction. The headquarters of the Read schools will be in Springfield, the Mr. Read will continue his residence in St. Louis.

D. E. Hinkle, principal of the Springfield Brown's Business college, will have the position of inside superintendent, visiting each of the Read schools once every six weeks. A Fond du Lac paper, commenting upon the change in the Fountain City college, has this to say:

"M. J. Edwards, proprietor of the Fountain City Business college since March, 1914, has disposed of his interests to G. W. Puffer, at present manager of the famous Brown's Business college at Jacksonville, Ill."

"Under the guidance of Mr. Edwards the Fountain City college has grown rapidly until at the present time it has the largest enrollment in the history of the institution. Several changes have been made under the direction of Mr. Edwards. A modern office department has been added for the convenience of the pupils and the class work has been extended considerably."

"Principal Puffer, who is to succeed Mr. Edwards, speaks in the highest terms his appreciation of the splendid work accomplished by the present principal during his ownership. Mr. Puffer states the Fountain City Business college measures up very creditably to the standards of many larger and more widely known institutions."

"Altho it will be some time before Mr. Puffer will be able to assume active charge of the work he arrangements have been made so that the regular work of the college will go on smoothly and uninterruptedly with no break because of the change in management."

"Mr. Puffer is well known in Fond du Lac county, having been principal of the Oakfield high school at one time. Mrs. Puffer is also known here. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Thackray of Greenbush. Mr. and Mrs. Puffer have a daughter three years old."

There were twenty-five teams in the business men's division and they raised during the campaign $190,429, and six student teams secured subscriptions amounting to $19,947.25. Mr. Powers evidently does his work in the same forceful and enthusiastic way that characterized his business life in Jacksonville and his participation in public events.

FRANK MALLORY, WELL KNOWN CITIZEN, DEAD

Went Into Business Life Ten Years Ago After 26 Years Connection With the Stage—Ill for Two Weeks

Frank Mallory, one of the best known and most highly respected colored citizens of this city died at five minutes past eight last evening at his home on South Main street.

Mr. Mallory was born in Paris, Missouri, Nov. 19, 1864 and was the son of James and Arria Barnett Mallory. In 1874 the family moved to this city which has been the parental abode ever since. Frank attended public school and went also to the high school where he made good grades. He was always naturally bright and attractive, a good singer and a natural born mimic and talented impersonator and at the age of sixteen he and his brother Edward started out as public performers and attained great success. For 26 years they kept the road making good wherever they went. They were known practically all over the continent and had hosts of friends in the profession.

Ten years ago they decided they had had enough of that kind of life and came home to settle down to daily life and business. They opened the establishment which they have since conducted and have done well and maintained a good credit. In business dealings they have ever been honorable and square and have enjoyed a good credit.

Some time ago Frank began to feel indisposed but heeded the trouble would pass away all right but it didn't and finally he discovered he had that fatal malady, Bright's disease. Two weeks ago he took his bed and since that time has failed rapidly.

Mr. Mallory was married to Miss Grace Halliday in Newark, New Jersey, Sept. 25, 1900. His wife died March 26, 1905. He was married again in Jacksonville, April 24, 1909 to Miss Bertha Duncan and she died three years later. One son was born to his first wife but the little one lived only three months. His parents passed away years ago. The brothers and sisters were Clay, dead; Edward of Jacksonville; William of Kansas City; James of Jacksonville; Jane, Mrs. Samuel Mason of Alton; Pauline, Mrs. Ellis Moore of Jacksonville; Ella, Mrs. Thomas Stanford of Peoria; Emma, Mrs. James Williams and Amelia, Mrs. Charles Sharpe, both of Jacksonville.

Mr. Mallory was a consistent member of the Mt. Emory Baptist church and was a great force in the society. He was president of the brotherhood and efficient in many ways; always useful and ready to do his part in every way possible. He was a member of Mallory Lodge, Knights of Pythias, No. 2 and was Grand Deputy of this district.

In disposition he was kind and obliging and made many warm friends and had few if any enemies. He was very popular with all classes and was esteemed by a large circle of friends.

The time for the funeral has not been named.

A report of the state wide Y. M. C. A. campaign for international work was received last night by Secretary Findley. Up to the hour of the statement $101,000 out of the $125,000 desired has been secured. This means that there is $24,000 still to raise. In this district the sum allotted was $10,000 and so far $6,000 has been raised. The situation is therefore that $4,000 more must be secured.

As mentioned yesterday, workers' teams will visit Beardstown, Virginia and Winchester today, and the purpose is to carry out an active campaign in Morgan, Scott and Cass county until the entire sum has been secured.

Charles Coulas came up to the city from Winchester yesterday in his Ford car.

RURAL COMMUNITIES NEED PUBLIC HEALTH NURSE

Miss Katherine Olmsted of Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association Makes Appeal for Conservation of Health of Farming Communities

Cincinnati, Ohio, May 9.—"Conserve the health of farming communities," was the appeal delivered today by Miss Katherine Olmsted, to the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis in its thirteenth annual meeting here.

Miss Olmsted is supervising nurse with the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association. She urged that it was the patriotic duty of every state to provide public health nurses for rural as well as for city communities.

"The United States does everything in its power to safeguard and conserve the health of its fighting men," she declared. "Is it less important, less a patriotic duty to conserve the health and strength of that other army upon whom the fighting men depend, the army of the plow and the hoe?"

Cold Settled In His Back

"Foley Kidney Pills always give me prompt relief."—Ed Velson, Rogers, N. H., writes: "I have used Foley Kidney Pills for backache, the result of catching cold which settled in my back. Foley Kidney Pills always give me prompt relief and I can cheerfully recommend them."

The reason Foley Kidney Pills get to satisfactorily is because they neutralize and dissolve the poisonous waste matter that remains in the blood because the kidneys do not do their work properly in filtering and casting out from the system uric acid and other poisons.

Relief usually follows in a few days and such symptoms as pain in the sides or back, stiff joints, sore muscles, rheumatism, too frequent action of the bladder at night, and other painful and annoying ailments disappear. Foley Kidney Pills contain no harmful ingredients. They are safe as well as effective.

OLD JACKSONVILLE

Capt. Jacob W. Zabriskie.

By Ensley Moore

(Member Illinois State Historical Society.)

Col. John J. Hardin had his grand burial here, July 14, 1847, after his tragic death in the battle of Buena Vista, Mexico. It was the greatest event of the kind ever witnessed here, up to that time, and our people did all they could think of that was within their power to show their love and respect for the distinguished patriot. Of this a full account has already been given in the "Old Jacksonville" series.

Capt. Zabriskie.

The captain of the company which went from here was Jacob W. Zabriskie, one of the most brilliant and well known young men that has made his home in Jacksonville. He, too, fell at Buena Vista, and he was fully expected that his funeral would be observed here, along with that of Col. Hardin.

But when the soldiers returned, bringing the body of Hardin with them, it was found that Capt. Zabriskie's relatives in the East had ordered his remains sent directly from New Orleans or St. Louis to his former home in New Jersey.

Lately, thro an unexpected source, the writer has come in possession of a pamphlet giving a detailed description of the ceremonies and honors attendant upon the burial of Zabriskie at Hackensack, New Jersey.

The pamphlet in question was kindly loaned to the writer by Mr. Wm. M. Johnson of Hackensack, who naturally values it very highly.

Hackensack is a town twenty-eight miles from New York City, by rail, situated near the Hudson, just a little distance inside its boundary by the palisades of the great North river. It is a place now of about three thousand inhabitants, and it is likely the number has not much changed in the past seventy years.

In the announcement published (here) in the Morgan Journal of July 19, 1847, the "order of procession" for the funeral of Col. Hardin and of Capt. Zabriskie, as at first planned was headed:

"Order of Procession"

For the reception of the First Regiment of Illinois Volunteers, with the remains of Col. Hardin and Capt. Zabriskie. This heading was spread across three columns of the Journal, predecessor of the Jacksonville Journal. This account from the Morgan Journal was republished in this series in the issue of April 6, 1916.

The pamphlet which tells of the obsequies at New York City and Hackensack, N. J., had the following on its outside and inside title pages: "HONOR TO THE BRAVE"

An Account

of the

Funeral Obsequies

of the late

Captain J. W. Zabriskie,

of the

1st Illinois Regiment

Who was slain at the Battle of Buena Vista

On the 23rd day of February, 1847.

Published by the Committee.

New Brunswick:

Printed at the Union Office, 1847

The first page of text of the pamphlet is headed "Honor to the Brave." The following introduction is given:

"The remains of this gallant officer reached Philadelphia on the 20th of July. On the following day they were escorted to the steamer John Stevens, by a detachment of five companies under the command of Major Fritz. They arrived at New Brunswick, N. J., about 11 p. m., and were received by the Neilson Guards, and escorted to the City Hall, followed by the Faculty and students of Rutgers College. Large numbers of citizens and strangers; all under the direction of Capt. Moore, Grand Marshal. During the procession minute guns were fired. On the morning of the 22nd they were escorted to the steamer Raritan by the Neilson Guards which company, together with a military committee from the Lafayette Fusiliers, attended them to New York. They were escorted from the battery (N. Y.) at 4 p. m., by the Lafayette Fusiliers, as a guard of honor. The German Hussars, the German Horse Guards, the New Lafayette Guards, the Washington Guard and Rifle Rangers, followed by the Mayors and Common Council of New York and Jersey City, and a large concourse of citizens, all under command of Gen. Storms, to the steamer Frank, at the foot of Canal street (N. Y.). During the procession minute guns were fired, the bells chimed, and flags were displayed at half-mast. When the boat approached Bull's Ferry minute guns were fired; likewise at Ft. Lee (N. Y.). At the latter place the New York committee placed the remains in charge of the committee of Bergen county (N. Y.) when the following remarks were made by

John I. Mumford, Esq.:

"After other eloquent and fitting words of tribute, Mr. Mumford said: 'It has been beautifully remarked that the sorrow for the dead is the only sorrow from which we refuse to be divorced, and this is unquestionably true in reference to those whom we have long loved or venerated, and who have suffered lingering deaths in the bosoms of their families, in the midst of friends; but there is an actual joy in our grief for those who have perished their lives for our sakes, whether in the circumscribed sphere of civil daring, or in the nation's battlefield; and, when death comes to the gallant soldier who, in the enthusiasm of patriotism, rushes to the field where destruction is swift, and the death-every bosom exults, and every voice exclaims:

"Our swords in our hands, Our country to save, Oh, who would not die with the brave?"

Captain J. W. Zabriskie was a native of New Jersey, but at an early age engaged in mercantile pursuits in the young and chivalrous state of Illinois; and it was there, in the free and far West, that he found those kindred spirits whom he led to the bloody victory of Buena Vista.

It was there, as well in his native state, that he will long be remembered. But thither he cannot go. His remains must rest in the tomb of his ancestors, and his mother must have the privilege of holy tears, and of decking his grave with garlands, while the proud father of such a son has a right to console her and himself that the son was one who lived as mothers wish their sons to live.

And died as fathers wish their sons to die.

And now what is left to us of New York but to consign these precious remains to those in whose soil they shall become consecrated dust—what remains for you of his military friends who have tendered the present honor to a gallant brother's memory, but to say:

Farewell, brother soldier, in peace may you rest, And light be the turf on your valorous breast, For in spite of Death's terrors, and hostile alarms, When you heard the last bugle, you stood to your arms.

A. O. Zabriskie, Esq., Of Hackensack, in behalf of the committee of arrangements, and his fellow citizens, made the following beautiful and patriotic reply: (His address ran along until this detached paragraph appeared):

All this while the rain, which had commenced, continued to pour. Everyone was drenched almost to the skin. When the body was brought from on board the Frank to the hearse, the music of the band was so solemn and sweet, that one of the troop said, 'I forgot the rain—I forgot everything else.'

The remains were then conveyed to Hackensack, escorted by the Lafayette Fusiliers and a portion of the Rifle Rangers, of New York; and Capt. Terhune's Troop of Cavalry, followed by the committee of arrangements and other citizens of New Jersey.

The procession entered Hackensack about 8 o'clock p. m.—the rain still pouring upon them—but the band played the sweetest and most plaintive airs—the cannon uttered its loud lament—while the remains were deposited in the Court House, left in charge of Capt. Wilson and his Fusiliers.

At 9 o'clock a. m. of the 23rd, the storm having subsided, a detachment of sixteen men from the Fusiliers, conveyed the body on muskets, with slow and solemn step to the mansion of the father of the deceased. At 10 o'clock the coffin with its contents was removed to the hearse, during which the band discoursed the most solemn and exquisite music. The procession was then formed in the following order:

1. Capt. Terhune's Troop of Cavalry.

2. N. Y. Fusiliers, Capt. Wilson, as a guard of honor, with Dods-worth's splendid band.

3. The hearse drawn by two grey horses, caparisoned in mourning, led by grooms, the hearse being covered with a splendid black velvet pall, with the words, "Buena Vista," in large silver letters on both sides.

4. Carriages with the relatives of the deceased.

5. One carriage containing four clergymen.

6. One carriage containing committee of arrangements.

7. A large number of citizens.

8. The society of Rechabites with their banner, preceded by the Pater-son brass band.

9. A large number of citizens.

The procession thus formed under the direction of Marshal Ackerson, passed through the principal streets of the village. During the procession minute guns were fired—the bells were tolled—business was suspended, and the immense assemblage seemed penetrated with the deepest emotions of solemnity.

Arrived at the public square, the coffin was placed in front of the stand, covered with the pall. Capt. Terhune's Troop dismounted, officiating as a guard. The ladies occupied seats prepared for them, while the remaining area was covered with the dense mass assembled for the occasion.

Rev. C. T. Demarest, Arose, and after offering a prayer to the throne of grace, in the most solemn and affecting manner, delivered the following beautiful and eloquent sermon:

In addressing you on this occasion, I take, as a basis for my remarks, a sentence from the remarkable elegy of David on the death of Saul and Jonathan, found in the Second Book of Samuel; 1st c., 24, 26 v.:

"How are the mighty fallen in the midst of the battle! O Jonathan, thou wast slain in thy high places. I am distressed for thee, my brother Jonathan."

To you, mother and father, sisters and brothers, of this brave Captain, I tender, in behalf of this vast assembly, military and civil, met to do honour to your son and brother, the warmest sympathies of our hearts. Your house has lost a son, but nothing of honor. His position was in the centre of the line, under Col. Hardin, and under the immediate eye of the General Commanding.

Santa Anna, on the afternoon of the 23d, the last day of the battle, concentrated his forces for his last and greatest effort, and fell with all his strength, with overwhelming numbers, upon the centre of our line.

It was the hottest and most critical hour of the battle, according to Gen. Wool. Our forces bravely withstood the terrific shock, repulsed the enemy with great slaughter, and gained the day; but how many brave spirits fell! O, Zabriskie, and thou too wast slain in that terrific conflict. We are distressed for thee. You weep a son and brother fallen, but his gallant death has adorned your name with a noble wreath. You still weep—we mingle our tears, with yours. May God himself be your comforter.

The following eloquent funeral oration was then pronounced by Dr. A. R. Hopper.

After which the procession was formed in the following order, to-wit: Capt. Terhune's Troop of Cavalry; The New York Fusiliers, as a Guard of Honor, preceded by Dods-worth's band; Clergymen; Relatives and Friends; Citizens and Strangers.

After the remains had been deposited in the grave.

General Walbridge, Of Ohio, presented the thanks of the relatives and friends of the deceased in the following impressive and eloquent address:

Rev. A. Warner closed the exercises by a solemn appeal to the Throne of Grace.

Nothing occurred during the day to mar the order or solemnity of the exercises.

Honor To the Dead—A Card.

The undersigned, in behalf of the family of the late Capt. Jacob W. Zabriskie, tenders to the following gentlemen and military corps, the deeply felt gratitude for the kindness and patriotism evinced in honoring the remains of their dearly beloved and much lamented relative:

To Lieut. Col. Warren, of the 1st Illinois Regiment, for his unremitting efforts to obtain the consent of the company of Capt. Zabriskie to permit his remains to be conveyed to Hackensack, as well as numerous other acts of sympathy and kindness that are deeply felt, but cannot be expressed, he will accept my warmest thanks. The members of the company who were so nobly led in the fatal charge by our late gallant friend I tender individually and collectively my heart felt thanks, for nobly sacrificing their own feelings of strong attachment and affection to gratify the venerable parents and relatives of the deceased.

To the gallant, noble and generous Lieut. Stott, whose attachment to the deceased, induced him on the field of 'Buena Vista' to seek out the body of his captain, and at his own personal expense, (without knowing it would ever be returned, being ignorant of the relatives of the deceased, except his having a brother, a surgeon in Gen. Taylor's staff,) having the usual rites carefully paid to the remains, furnishing the coffins, both lead and wood, and every facility for transporting them. For having the body decently interred in camp, with the usual military honors—having it disinterred when returning home, at the expiration of his term of service, and accompanying the remains to their final resting place, in the tomb of his ancestors, at Hackensack, N. J. For this disinterested and chivalrous conduct, these noble and generous acts, known only to an American soldier, I do, from the very bottom of my soul, tender to him my most sincere and grateful acknowledgements—in behalf of American valor and humanity, I thank him—and, in behalf of the family, I repeat the acknowledged gratitude of relatives, friends and acquaintances.

Thanks were given to Major Peter Fritz and the Philadelphia military; the Rutgers College and the citizens generally; Neilson Guards, Steamboat Baritan; Lafayette Fusiliers; Major Crawley of the "Military Argus"; General Storms; Capt. Jagels; Capt. Finck and his Troop; Capt. Leurison and his 27th Mounted Troop; Capt. Parker and his Rifle Rangers; Capt. J. Lonati and his command; The Lafayette Horse Guards; to Lieut. William Palmer and to Capt. Thos. Milne; to the mayors and corporations of the cities of Brooklyn, New York and Jersey City; he officers of the army and navy; the officers of the First Division of the New York State Militia; the proprietor of the Steamer Frank, for the generous use of the boat Frank; John I. Mumford, Esq.; to A. O. Zabriskie, Esq.; to W. B. Burrill, Esq.; to the committee of Hackensack; to the Bergen county Troop; Capt. Terhune; to the Rev. Cornelius T. Demarest; to Dr. Hopper; to Gen. Walbridge of Ohio, whose soul stirring oratory was thrillingly felt when introducing Lieut. Stott to the citizens of Hackensack.

"And to each and all who participated in the honors paid to the remains of the departed soldier, the thanks of the sorrowing and afflicted family is, with the deepest impressions of gratitude sincerely and religiously tendered by desire, and in their behalf.

By their friend,
Henry Libenau."

New York.

On the back of the cover is written, "He was buried in the grave yard adjoining the Old Church on the Green."

His monument bears this inscription:

Capt. Jacob W. Zabriskie Killed at the Battle of Buena Vista Feb. 23, 1847. Aged 39 years.

Jacob C. J. Zabriskie who was his father, lived on Essex street, where Children's Home now is, (1912). He died Nov. 21, 1847, aged 80 years. His wife Maria (Brunot) Zabriskie died June 22, 1861, aged 82 years. They were also parents of (Squire) Herman B. Zabriskie and John Z. Zabriskie and of Mrs. Helen and Mrs. Jennie Schebley.

This wonderful story, come out of the past, shows one of the most impressive funerals ever given to any one in this country, lower than the President of the United States, and Jacksonville can be proud to have had an interest in the occasion.

A WONDERFUL NEW VOLUME

THE publishers of the Encyclopaedia Britannica announce that they have made arrangements for the issue, as soon after the end of the war as possible, of a new volume, containing a full and authoritative history of the war.
The new volume will be written by scholars and experts of the same high character as those who wrote for the Britannica itself, and by many of its own contributors. It will be absolutely impartial, excluding all partisan feeling and prejudice. It will contain a unique account of the real causes of the war, the progress of the struggle, and the results all over the world; with maps, as necessary, to show changes in boundaries.
2. The lives of the new leaders, whether civil, military or naval, in the belligerent countries.
3. The results of the war outside the sphere of fighting, the progress of surgery, the prevention of contagious disease, the new scientific discoveries, etc.
The new volume will bridge the gap between the days of peace before the war and after. It will be printed and bound to match the Britannica and the publishers guarantee that no matter how difficult and costly the supplementary volume may be from the editorial point of view, the price of it to all who purchase the Britannica during the present sale will not be more than that of a corresponding volume of the Britannica.

WHEAT PRICES FLASH STRAIGHT FOR ZENITH

Shoots Up 11 Cents in an Instant and Later Goes to 18 3/4 Cents—Impetus Comes From Crop Report—Close is Unsettled at 12 to 13 Cents Up

Chicago, May 9.—Wheat prices today reached a high for the month on top of yesterday's record-breaking rise, and then fell to the market, shot up in an instant to more and later gathering from 12 to 13 cents, and finally settling at 12 1/2 cents. The impetus came from the government crop report showing the largest abundance of wheat in the history of the country, but the report also showed a shortage of corn, which was a factor in the advance.

Exporting wheat to buy wheat was a factor in the advance, and the market advanced, especially when the market opened, but taking the day as a whole the volume of business was much smaller than in the past, and the market was mostly made up of small lots. The outcome was an unsettled close at 12 1/2 cents, with May at $1.11 and July at $1.05, a gain of 11 cents.

May gained 11 cents, from 11 to 12 1/2 cents, and July gained 11 cents, from 10 to 11 1/2 cents. The market was mostly made up of small lots, and the volume of business was much smaller than in the past.

ARMY QUARTERMASTER VERY BUSY OFFICIAL

Just at Present This Department is Swamped With Work—Must Accommodate for All Supplies and Transportation

Washington, D. C., May 9.—The busiest department of the army at the present time, and probably for a long time to come, is the Quartermaster's Department. No one outside of the service can have any idea of the number and variety of duties
that the officers of this department
have to perform in time of war.

As laid down officially, it is the duty of the Quartermaster's Department, under the direction of the Secretary of War, to purchase and distribute to the army all military stores and supplies, requisite for its use, which other corps are not directed by law to provide; to furnish means of transportation for the army, its military stores and supplies, and to provide for and pay all incidental expenses of the military service which other corps are not directed to pay for and provide.

Nominally the duties of the Quartermaster's Department embrace all details of the army organization affecting clothing, food and quarters,
but in practice the work covers
much more ground than these items suggest. Every officer of the department must be an accurate and intelligent bookkeeper, for every article of the soldier's equipment is in the care of the quartermaster's department and must be accounted for.

Camp Hygiene
Blankets, tables, buckets, brooms
and many other articles in addition to arms and other equipment are in the keeping of the company quartermaster, and he must be able to produce or account for them at all times. He is responsible for the cleanliness and hygiene of the soldiers' quarters. He is responsible for the men being well fed and given plenty of variety in their diet. The quick and orderly distribution of meals is his special province, and he is expected to see that there is no waste.

The company quartermaster must also see that his men are well clothed and well shod, and must keep a record of all the articles of kit in each man's possession, replacing any garments or underclothing which become worn out by fair wear and tear; and charging the men, thru their accounts, for anything lost or destroyed owing to carelessness. Beyond this he is expected to know the whereabouts of every man of his company so that he may figure how many men will be "in mess" each day, so that he can indent accurately
for the amount of rations required.

The amount of work which these various details involve in the matter of an army of several hundred thousand men is difficult to appreciate, especially as the "duration of war" soldier, being untrained in army routine and methods, cannot be expected to look after himself
and his belongings so carefully as could be desired.

Department Head Has Wide Experience

The army is fortunate in having
at the head of the Quartermaster's Department at the present time an officer of unlimited experience in the duties which he is called upon to perform. Major General George H. Sharpe served for more than ten years as commissary general of the army before his appointment as Quartermaster-General and enjoys
the reputation of being one of the best equipped officers who ever belonged to the commissary corps. He possesses a thorough knowledge of the history, scope and details of the subsistence department, knows the quality and worth of every yard of cloth that goes into an army uniform, and has analyzed the multitude of articles of food that are purchased or procured for the soldiers.
There is no field of activity in his department that he has not mastered by personal study and experience.

While stationed at St. Louis some years ago Gen. Sharpe wrote a book on "The Art of Subsisting Armies in the Field," it traces the rise and development of the art of supplying armies, and is a text book and historical narrative. He also wrote an essay on "The Art of Supplying Armies in the Field as Exemplified in the Civil War," and it won the first prize offered in 1895 in the contest of the Journal of the Military Service Institution of the United States.

In the Spanish-American war Gen.
Sharpe served as chief commissary of the army concentrating at Chick-amauga preparatory to the invasion of Cuba and Porto Rico with the invading army as chief commissary of the command of Major-General Brooke. Subsequently he served as chief commissary of the Philippine department.

AT NICHOLS PARK.

Mullenix & Hamilton park possession of the refreshment pavilion yesterday and placed a part of their supplies and apparatus and will be ready for business in due season.

Simon Fernandes & Sons are at work on their contract for steps on the south side of the large pavilion.
The job will require several days for completion. A part of the cement walk immediately in front of the pavilion is being replaced up to grade.

The new baby monkey was unable to survive the vicissitudes of life and passed away much to the regret of every one interested.

Since the lake was emptied, the moss and other foods which the swans ate has been destroyed and the birds are obliged to rustle on land and the custodian feeds them
some also.

A good many people are playing golf as far as the weather will permit tho the numerous rains have much lessened the attractions making the grounds too wet for comfort.

The trees transplanted for the chautauqua grounds are doing well
and will be much of an addition to the attractiveness of that part of the park.

There is a bad leak in the dam
which should have attention. There is danger of its increasing if not stopped in time.

The climbing rose bushes or vines
are coming out in fine shape and will be more beautiful than ever.

Cold, wet weather has kept back
the flowers beds and there is some fear that the bulbs planted may rot
but it is hoped not as it would be a great loss to the park.

A good many automobile owners
are driving thru the park and there is quite a long drive for them now that the floor of the bridge has been replaced. When the season fully opens with good weather it is to be hoped that they will observe the speed rules. In the past there has been far too much reckless driving
there and it is a wonder some one has not been hurt. Possibly a few arrests and fines might act as a deterrent.

The new lawn mower is doing
good work and cutting a wide swath.
That and the hand mower are kept
quite busy all the time.

TENT MEETING AT WOODSON

JULY 22 TO AUGUST 12.
Rev. J. Latham, pastor of Unity Presbyterian church at Woodson was in the city yesterday and said he had arranged for a Rev. Chester Birch, an evangelist of national fame
to conduct a tent meeting in Woodson, under the auspices of the Presbyterian church, from July 22nd to Aug. 12. The evangelist is a superior cornetist and uses one of the finest, if not the finest instruments
in the country.

Speaking of him a Minneapolis
paper says:

"The life of Rev. Mr. Birch is marked with interesting events. Being a lover of music from his early youth, he enlisted in the army as a musician. Later he procured an order from General John A. Logan, which released him that he might
go into church work.

"In his work he is assisted by a cornet, one of the finest ever manufactured in America, which was presented to him by the Y. M. C. A. of St. Louis.

"He began his work in conjunction with Dr. W. H. Clagett, now pastor of Grace Presbyterian church of Pittsburgh.

"Recently he realized that lyceum
bureaus do not always book a genuine talent, and so has undertaken to arrange this series of evangelistic chautauques.

"He believes that they will be a pleasing innovation to the thousands of church people who desire to maintain the church spirit on the Sabbath
and thruout the days of the week."

TANLAC BESTS TROUBLES

"This Medicine's Work Will Save Me.
At the Least, $100", Mrs. Mace Asserts.

"I'm sure that Tanlac is going to save me a hospital bill of at least $100 this spring", Mrs. Bertha J.
Mace, wife of a well known Jacksonville cigar maker who lives at 403
South Main street, said on April 24.

"Every spring and fall for the last three years," Mrs. Mace continued,
"I have suffered from stomach and liver trouble. Each time I would have to go to the hospital. In the spring my liver would become very sluggish. My kidneys would also become affected. Sharp, shooting pains came in my stomach, so severe that I thought I couldn't stand them. It was almost impossible for me to sleep at night and I was nervous and irritable all the time.

"I decided to try Tanlac after a
had learned how many Jacksonville people had been aided by the new medicine. Well sir, I simply feel fine
now. I'm able to work in the garden and can do all my housework
now without the least trouble. My liver and kidney trouble has been greatly relieved. The pains in my stomach have ceased to bother me,
too. I'm anxious to have all my friends know what a fine medicine Tanalac really is."

PROVED TO BE WONDER WORKER, FARMER AVERS

"Tanalac has simply done wonders
for me," was the enthusiastic statement made on April 21, by Bert C.
Barber, farmer, residing on rural route No. 3 Jacksonville.

"I'd had kidney trouble for years
and lately my stomach has been bordering me," he continued. "Food sour-
ed in my stomach and gas formations
made me feel bloated after eating.
My kidneys caused severe pains in my back.

"I can eat most anything, since using Tanlac, and believe me, the food agrees with me perfectly. I sleep sound as a baby at night and feel fine in the mornings. The kidney pains in my back have entirely disappeared, too."

"I know I can't say enough in praise of Tanlac," John Olean, attache of the Jacksonville court house, said on April 23. Mr. Olean has been a resident here for forty years.

"Rheumatism and stomach trouble have caused me no end of trouble
for seven years," he continued.
"Nothing I ate seemed to agree with me. I couldn't retain food in my stomach, at times. My blood was impure and very thin.

"Well sir, if there was ever a well
man, I'm one, since taking Tanlac.
I eat much more heartily and the food doesn't cause me any distress
now. My rheumatism has entirely disappeared and my blood seems to be in fine condition."

TO EMPHASIZE SOLIDARITY OF NATION

Washington, D. C., May 9.—The
national reunion of the United Confederate Veterans, to be held here
early next month, is expected to emphasize the solidarity of the nation in the war against Germany. The plans now nearing completion aim
to make the occasion one of patriotic enthusiasm, marking the complete reconciliation and hearty co-operation of the Blue and the Gray, as the war clouds, the most portentous
in the world's history, darken the horizon. The coming reunion will be the first time the Confederate veterans have held their annual gathering north of Mason and Dixon's line. As a return compliment it is proposed that the 1918 national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic be held at Richmond,

the capital of the late Confederate States of America. The promoters of this plan declare that the grim fighters of the two sides should now
meet and fraternize in the rival capitals of more than fifty years ago,
saying it would be an object lesson
worth while as an illustration of the American character.

REPORTS RECOVERY OF PREVIOUS LOSS

Local Woman Declares
She's Rapidly Regain-
ing Weight Now

SAYS TANLAC IS CAUSE

New Medicine Aided Her After Others Had Failed, Mrs.

Tapscott Asserts

"I had lost twenty-two pounds in weight and simply felt miserable, but since taking Tanlac, I'm gaining in weight every day and I'm not a bit nervous and irritable as I was before", Mrs. Alice Tapscott, wife of an employee of the National Express Co., of 693 Sherman street, told the Tanalac Man on April 25.

"My case was diagnosed by some
as ptomaine poisoning and then others
thought it to be stomach trouble", Mrs. Tapscott continued.
"I had been troubled for the past two years. I always felt distressed for two or three hours after meals. Gas accumulations in my stomach made me feel terribly bloated. I couldn't go to sleep at night until after midnight.

"I read about Tanlac in the St.
Louis Times and finally decided to try the new medicine. Three bottles of Tanlac have given me more relief
than all the other medicines I've taken in the last two years. My nervousness has entirely disappeared and I'm not irritable any more. The gas formations and bloating no longer follow my meals. I sleep soundly at night, too. I want my friends to know of the benefits I've derived from Tanlac and I hope they will try the new medicine."

ASSERTS INCREASE IS A HUNDRED PER CENT

"I seemed to improve almost after the first dose of Tanlac and now I really feel 100 per cent better every way", Mrs. Louis C. O'Neill, Jacksonville woman of 236 West Chambers street, said on May 2.

"I'd become 'out of fix' with myself. I was so nervous," she continued. "For eight years my system generally has been run down. I couldn't sleep at night and felt tired and worn out all through the day. I lacked strength and energy and badly, too.

"The relief I've gained convinces
me Tanlac is the best medicine I've ever taken. I'm rapidly regaining my strength and my system generally seems to have been benefitted. I sleep fine at night and feel fresh and rested in the mornings."

RETIRED FARMER ACTS AFTER WIFE'S RELIEF

William Henderson, local retired farmer of 810 West Lafayette avenue, is a firm friend of Tanlac. His statement regarding the relief gained through the new medicine is indicative of this fact.

"My wife had stomach trouble",
he said. "Gas formations and pains
in her stomach would invariably follow her meals. She didn't sleep well and felt tired all the time. Her feet and limbs would swell terribly at times.

"Well, Mrs. Henderson never suffers any bad effects from her eating since taking Tanlac. She sleeps better at night, also, and feels fresh
and rested all through the day now.
The swelling has gone down in her feet and limbs, too."

The Master Medicine

erous barracks, hospitals, industrial

out the country at the disposal of the government. It is expected that the entire personnel of the organi-

men and women, the most of them
with practical experience in nursing and relief work, will be offered for service in any capacity that the Government may suggest.
